Dear Friends:

As co-chairs of Interval House's 2017 Breakfast With Champions, we invite you to join us in honoring this year's awardee -- Fox 61.

For nearly a decade, Fox 61's on-air talent, production team and administrative staff have partnered with Interval House to spread awareness in the cause against domestic violence with spotlight stories and events around the issue.

The station's domestic violence coverage in the last several years has placed much-needed attention on the problem, encouraging thousands to find help and hope at Interval House. But those at Fox 61 have personal reasons for wanting to end this insidious cycle of violence and abuse.

When a domestic violence tragedy directly affected the Fox 61 family, it was devastating. From that moment on everyone -- behind and in front of the cameras -- pledged to do whatever they could to help victims and their families.

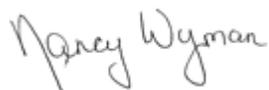

Domestic violence thrives behind closed doors and sometimes even hides in plain sight. It reaches into all communities and does not discriminate. Since 1977, Interval House has helped hundreds of thousands of people trapped by domestic abuse. Its staff and volunteers work tirelessly to save lives. Thanks to Fox 61's news coverage and editorial voice, more people than ever before know about the organization's life-saving services and programs.

On October 18, we will gather at the Riverview in Simsbury to honor the men and women of Fox 61 for their dedication and unwavering commitment to end domestic violence.

Please consider sponsoring a table or a purchase of tickets. All proceeds will go to Interval House thanks to the extraordinary generosity of John Royce, owner of the Riverview, who has donated his facility, all the food and the service.

Together we can make a difference, and someday make domestic violence a social malady of the past. Until then, Interval House and Fox 61 will be there to help save and change lives.

Sincerely,

Nancy Wyman
